ReviewRight Expert Guidance and Recommendations

One of the key elements available to all ReviewRight customers is access to a formalized group of attorneys, each with more than 10 years of eDiscovery experience, that can assist counsel and clients with the early stages of litigation through final document production and analysis.

These experts provide guidance and recommendations to devise document review strategies that limit review set populations, to select review technologies, to craft customized workflows that increase review speed and accuracy, and to develop searches to target key documents to enable counsel to tailor legal strategies to case facts. Simply stated, ReviewRight experts enable counsel and clients to benefit from the knowledge gained from millions of review documents to decrease costs and increase accuracy. This allows counsel to spend their time focusing on just the most important documents.

ReviewRight Expert Consulting Services

As part of our ReviewRight offerings, our team of eDiscovery attorney experts delivers full data reduction consulting designed to appropriately reduce the size of data review sets prior to technology-assisted review and manual document review. These data reduction services include six key offerings.

Data Reduction Consulting Services
• Search Term Testing and Analysis	• Identifying Per Se Non-Responsive Documents
• Custom De-duping	• Single Instance Review of Search Term Hits
• Analytics/Threading	• Review Protocols

Proven Security for All Review Services

ReviewRight takes a comprehensive approach to security and controls for all document reviews to specifically address each layer of cloud-delivered offerings. From the user and his/her endpoint devices, all the way to the physical data center infrastructure, security has been built into our offerings using a combination of virtual technologies, hardware, and customizable user controls. This protected end-user access coupled with HaystackID's privacy and security approach from policy to data center infrastructure extends critical and necessary privacy and security controls all the way to the reviewer's fingertips, regardless of location.
